This year, we are preparing for an unprecedented season of change with a brand new engine, exciting gameplay improvements and a full suite of new features that get you up close and personal with the game you love. We've talked a lot about FIFA as a brand in the past two years. At the 2013 Electronic Entertainment Expo (E3) we introduced the new brand identity, Evolution, for our FIFA games. Since then we have introduced a brand new name and identity across all our games including FIFA, Madden NFL and NHL. With the help of our internal brand and marketing agency, Character, we have invested in creating a new world of English-speaking fans with something to call their own. In FIFA 14, we also introduced the all-new FIFA World, Living World, putting the focus on creating more life-like soccer and more realistic emotion. This year we will continue to celebrate our fans and their passion for football and bring the next chapter in this cultural phenomenon. New Engine We've built our brand new engine to place more emphasis on the foundations of the sport, and deliver gameplay with greater authenticity and performance. Using the same tools we built our own FIFA Game Technology in FIFA 12, this is the first engine created from the ground up for FIFA. From footwork to muscle movements, we created the core foundation of physical soccer by creating FIFA's new kinesthetic intelligence engine, coupled with a new bc9d6d6daa
